TOSSIN' UP THE DIVISIONS

This year's division play has been nothing but exciting. Favored teams have been dealt hard losses, usually discounted teams have handed strong teams unexpected defeats and many divisions have three or more way ties for the second slot.

If yesterday was any indication, today will continue to surprise and shock spectators and teams alike. Before jumping head first into today's games, take a look at some of the round robin play already in the books.

The second half of the Prairie View A&M v.s. Hampton game in the Buffalo Soldiers division started with the men of PV answering with and correctly spelling "pirouette." The final score: 240-95, PVA&M—who says guys don't know their ballet?

The last question can always spell victory or defeat for a team, University of Maryland-Eastern Shore pulled out a win by a margin of five points over Texas Southern in the McNeal Turner Division.

Starting off the day in true competitive form, the Walker Division's debut match was a barn-burner between Morehouse and Harris-Stowe. The teams matched each other almost point-for-point, with a halftime score of Harris-Stowe 135, Morehouse 130. After the dust settled, Morehouse had earned a hard-fought victory, scoring 260 to Harris-Stowe's 235.

The top two teams in the DuSable division met in round robin play in the late morning on Friday. Oakwood never gave up on the buzzer and ended the game with a win over Langston, 360-160.

Reigning champions, Tennessee State University, started strong in the Aldridge division, with a record of 4-0.

Honda Careers 411

Honda Careers 411 was a hot commodity on Friday as players made it a top destination before and after game play. Students picked up Honda swag and talked to recruiters about possible opportunities within the nine affiliates of Honda.

One player discussed her current educational path and her desire to possibly pursue a career in Human Resources. Another talked about his internships and future career goals. Students were also given the opportunity to provide feedback on the fair to help make this event become an annual and useful interaction at HCASC.
